WHAT IS KIPP?
KIPP—the Knowledge is Power Program—is a non-profit, national network of tuition-free college preparatory public charter schools serving thousands of students from educationally underserved communities, preparing them for success in college and life.

KIPP St. Louis began in 2009, with the establishment of one middle school. We now serve 1,300 students in 4 schools: KIPP Inspire Academy (middle), KIPP Triumph Academy (middle), KIPP Victory Academy (elementary), and KIPP Wisdom Academy (elementary). KIPP St. Louis is proudly sponsored by Washington University in St. Louis. This unique partnership ensures excellence in school operations and allows KIPPsters in St. Louis immediate access to a college preparatory education, arming them early with the skills, experiences and expectations necessary for college.

We are Team and Family
MEET OUR SCHOOL LEADERS:

Ms. Niewald was a founding team member at KIPP New York City College Prep High School in the South Bronx. During her time at KIPP NYC, the high school won the New York City Men’s Basketball Championship, developed an academic program that included 16 different AP courses ranging from AP Calculus to AP Studio Art, and was named the #2 high school in New York State according to U.S. News & World Report.

Mrs. Simmons comes to KIPP from the Noble Network of Charter Schools in Chicago. During her time there, she served as Dean of Operations, AP US History Teacher, Assistant Principal and Varsity cheerleading coach. Her former school has ranked among the top three in open enrollment high schools in the city of Chicago for the last five years.

CURRICULUM AND ASSESSMENT:

KIPP St. Louis High School offers rigorous, college-preparatory classes. Honors and Advanced Placement classes push the most ambitious students, while top-notch art, music, athletic, community service, and extracurricular programs provide ample opportunities for students to pursue their interests outside of the classroom.

FOCUS ON RESULTS:

At KIPP, we measure student achievement in a variety of ways, including mastery of standards by content area, growth within each year, and college-readiness indicators. Students will also be well-prepared for college entrance exams, like the ACT. All efforts drive towards one goal: to climb the mountain to and through college.

In 2015, students who graduated from a KIPP high school proved “The KIPP High School Effect”:
